Begins Sept. 8 | Register encouraged by Sept. 3

In an era where we seem to be increasingly divided along racial lines, many are hesitant to step into the gap, fearful of saying or doing the wrong thing. At times, the silence has been particularly noticeable within the church. But change can begin with an honest conversation among a group of Christians willing to give a voice to unspoken hurts, hidden fears, and mounting tensions. With conviction and grace, Latasha Morrison examines the historical complexities of racism. She expertly applies biblical principles, such as lamentation, confession, and forgiveness, to lay the framework for restoration.
